Grandmother Says Ice Cream Treat Was Husband's Only Kind Act

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—In the 44 years of their married life her 65-year-old paralytic husband's one kind act was to buy her ice cream once, while John Walton Winn, a former convict loved her and waited 15 years for him to die.

This was the defense of Mrs. Eliza Nussbaum, 55-year-old grandmother in the confession which police say she made of plotting with Winn and three others to kill her husband, Albert, whose battered body was found Wednesday on a south side prairie.

Winn, at a pistol point, compelled Edward Goff to kill Nussbaum with an axe, Goff said in a confession. With two pairs of ice tongs Winn and Goff hauled the body into the attic of the home of Mrs. Delilah Martin, held as an accessory. After supper they dressed the body, loaded it into Nussbaum's sedan, and carried it to the prairie, abandoning plans to bury the house or bury the body in a grave dug in the back yard.

FIVE HELD
Winn, 37, was arrested in Crown Point, Ind., and brought to Chicago early Thursday. Held also were Goff, Mrs. Martin and Marion Siringham, whose clothes were used to garb the body.

First accusation against the grandmother came from her oldest son, Roscoe, father of eight children. His son, Lloyd, 20, was then under arrest after police found a part of the grandmother's skull and bloodstains in an automobile Lloyd was driving.

In efforts to shield his son, Roscoe told of the love affair of 15 years' duration between his mother and Winn. She gave Winn $250 a month of his father's money, Roscoe said. Once his father shot Winn through the head.

FIND DIARY
Unemotionally and without regret, the police said, Mrs. Nussbaum told how she and Winn had planned for a long time to kill her husband; after a stroke of paralysis had failed to prove fatal.

A fragmentary diary, in which she expressed fear that her husband would kill her, was found in her purse when arrested.

Detectives believe Winn was involved in a recent stock yards robbery. When arrested he had a small pistol of the type Goff described as used to threaten him. He served a penitentiary sentence in 1914 for robbery, police said.

HUNGARY FLOODS DRIVE PEOPLE FROM HOMES

Paris—(AP)—The floods in central Europe continue to spread notably in eastern Hungary. There the River Theiss is 28 feet above normal level at Tokay, famous for its wines. The devastation by the waters is being added to by ice jams forming at bridges. These great masses of ice are being demolished by artillery shell fire with some damage to the bridges, thousands of persons driven from their homes are flocking to cities which are above flood level.

While the situation in France thus far is merely threatening the rivers notwithstanding official optimism, continue to rise at fast rate in the east, west and north. The thermometer in Paris persists in remaining at 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

Chilean And Peruvian Temperament One Thing Pershing Can't Conquer

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1925 by The Post Pub. Co., Washington, D. C.—General John J. Pershing, hero of the World war and master of the many awkward and embarrassing situations that developed in the inter-allied command in France, has fallen a victim of the irreconcilable temperaments of Chile and Peru. His patience is exhausted and his sense of fairness will not permit him to compromise. Coincident with this is his illness.

Under the circumstances, the military man gives way to the diplomat. General Pershing may return, there may be an election to determine possession of the disputed province of Tacna and Arica, but the chances are that political accommodations will have to be applied to solve the dispute, and the eminent soldier will watch it all from a distance.

MUNSEY LEAVES BULK OF MONEY TO ART MUSEUM

His Magazines and Newspapers Are to Be Converted into Cash in 5 Years

New York—(AP)—Frank A. Munsey, after a life achievement in newspaper and magazine field, has chosen to perpetuate his name as a benefactor of art rather than as publisher.

His will leaves the bulk of a fortune estimated at variously from $25,000,000 to $40,000,000 to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The New York Sun, the New York Evening Telegram, and the magazines which made up the greater part of the estate are to be converted into cash within the next five years by his executors.

His bequest is the largest ever made to the Metropolitan Museum and will make it the richest art institution in the world.

Through it Mr. Munsey "stepped ahead" of J. Pierpont Morgan as the chief benefactor of the museum, the Morgan gifts totaling about $15,000,000.

Mr. Munsey publicly had not shown particular interest in the museum, his contributions being limited to a five-year membership.

Among minor bequests made by Mr. Munsey, a bachelor, was an annuity of $2,000 a year to Mrs. Hart E. Pryor, of Lowell, Mass., who was a sweetheart of Mr. Munsey's many years ago. Mrs. Pryor is 70 years old. Friends said that Munsey and Mrs. Pryor, then Annie Downs, had been engaged in Gardiner, Me., 50 years ago.

William T. Dewart, an executor of the estate, says there will be no immediate sale of the Munsey publications.

SMALL BOY IDENTIFIES NEGRO AS ASSAILANT

Milwaukee—(AP)—Rufus E. Brown, a 63-year-old Negro, identified by Michael Lecher as the man who mistreated him and left him in a railway car to freeze to death, continued to deny Thursday that he is man wanted. Brown was arrested Wednesday in Davenport, Iowa, and late Wednesday night was identified by the 8-year-old Lecher boy as the man who took him to the place where detectives found him. The Negro admits that he left Milwaukee a few hours after the boy was attacked, but said that it was a coincidence. He said he went to Davenport to obtain work as a porter but failed.

BULLETIN
Milwaukee—(AP)—Rufus E. Brown, 63-year-old negro confessed to the police Thursday that he had kidnapped and mistreated Michael Lecher. Brown's confession came after he had been identified by Henry Bell, a Madison negro, as wanted in that city for mistreating little boys.

DILLON CONCERN REPORTED BACK OF OIL MERGER

Bank Firm Also Buys Big Share in National Cash Register, Rumor Says

New York—(AP)—Dillon, Read and Co., bankers who startled the financial world with the purchase of the Dodge Brothers Motor interests over the bid of J. P. Morgan, are now reported to have arranged another financial coup in the purchase of a large interest in the National Cash Register Company.

Clarence Dillon, 43-year-old head of the firm, which has come into prominence only in the last decade, has been conducting negotiations, involving between $40,000,000 and $70,000,000 of securities, and the deal is expected to be consummated this week.

The name of Dillon, Read and Co., also plays a prominent part in Wall street reports that the General Petroleum Company and the Union Oil Co. of California will merge into an organization having $231,000,000 as assets. The banking company now holds the Union Oil company.

A. L. Well, vice president of the General Petroleum company however, denied Wednesday night at San Francisco that a merger was contemplated.

IS KILLED WHEN HE WALKS INTO TRAIN

Kenosha—(AP)—William Harris 26, an employee of the MacWhirter Wire Rope factory in this city, was struck and instantly killed by a train on the Northwestern railroad here Thursday morning on his way to work. Harris, who was unmarried, had alighted from a street car and was crossing the railroad tracks in the early morning darkness, when he apparently became confused by the lights and walked directly in front of a southbound Northwestern train. His chest was crushed and he died instantly.

Harris had come here from Brian, Ky., where he has a father living, according to letters in his pockets.

PROTECTS NAME OF SLAIN GIRL

Man Reported as Intended Poison Plot Victim Shields His Stenographer

New York—(AP)—"Senator" A. B. Lewis, 73-year-old mining man, formerly of Salt Lake City and Carson City, Nev., who was pictured as the intended victim of a poison plot by Henry W. Cowan, slayer of Edith Burton, a stenographer, has come forward with a complete denial of Cowan's story.

"All he says is a lie," Mr. Lewis said Wednesday night. "She was a girl of beautiful purity. She had no idea of marrying me or poisoning me or getting my money."

Mr. Lewis had been sought ever since Cowan left a letter before he killed the girl and shot himself. The letter said Miss Burton planned to marry Lewis, poison him, if necessary, and obtain his $100,000.

Lewis said that Miss Burton was not Cowan's common law wife, as the slayer has said.

District Attorney Dodd will seek a grand jury indictment for murder against Cowan, who is permanently blind as a result of his self-inflicted wound.

MINE PARLEY MAY CONTINUE ON NEW YEARS

Both Sides Determined to Settle Differences at Present Conference

New York—(AP)—An optimistic statement came early Thursday from the conference of representatives of anthraxite miners and operators who are trying to end the four months' suspension of work.

The first negotiators ended their second day's work at midnight. A statement issued later said:

"Both sides expressed the opinion that a contract can and should be negotiated at this conference."

This was taken to mean that the conference was beginning to see daylight ahead. Neither side would give any details except that the discussions had made clear to each side the views of the other.

The statement added that the conference continued to discuss arbitration with the operators favoring the proposition and the mine workers opposing it. Reference was also made to the check-off, the statement simply giving the information that this phase of the controversy has been under discussion. Under the check-off coal companies deduct the union dues from the miners' pay and turn them over to the union. The operators claim the check-off is illegal. The miners declare the companies have been checking off various items from the miners' semi-monthly pay for years.

It was learned that the miners have changed their position on a single proposition before the conference.

If no material progress is made Thursday, the joint wage conference expects to observe New Years by remaining at work.

BADGER FARM EDITORS INVITED TO WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—A conference for the discussion of agriculture surplus question has been called by Secretary Jardine to convene here Jan. 12. It will be the first of a series of conferences planned by the secretary for this purpose.

The farm editors had planned a special meeting in this city Jan. 11 and Secretary Jardine believed this would afford an opportunity to hold one of his projected conferences with farm leaders to advise with him on the surplus crop problem in the hope that definite progress may be made in arriving at a sound and practical solution.

Farm papers which have been asked to send representatives to the conference Jan. 12 include The Farmer, of Minnesota; Wisconsin Agriculturist, the Michigan Farmer; Hoard's Dairyman, of Wisconsin and the Breeders Gazette, of Illinois.

MADISON COPS TO BAR NEW YEARS ORGIES

Madison—(AP)—Strict enforcement of the prohibition laws is promised in Madison Thursday night. Police have been instructed to pick up any one seen with liquor, inspect hotels, restaurants, dance halls and other public places and arrest all "drunks."

Parties in private residences will not be disturbed unless they become too boisterous, Chief of Police Trustie said.

American Indian Origin Still Is Dark Mystery

Madison—(AP)—All attempts of science in 1925 to fix the origin of the American Indian in European or Asian sources have failed and the American aborigines remain an enigma in scientific research.

This was revealed in discussions of the annual meeting of the Society of American Bacteriologists here when a Kansas girl, working alone in this field of research that she has found no resemblance of blood grouping of Indians with European or Asiatic races. She made a personal study of 800 Indians.

The worker, Miss Clara Nigg of the department of bacteriology of the University of Kansas, said her finding may indicate that the American Indians stand alone as an individual or third group in world races, contrary to scientific theories that they sprang from an old world stock.

Though she does not advance any definite conclusions from her investigations scientists believe she has opened the way for a new theory as to the origin in the new world of a group domestic to the American continent.

She will carry her research to further determination, and bacteriologists attending the meeting here have offered their assistance.

The convention closes Thursday with further discussions in agricultural and industrial bacteriology and in comparative pathology and immunology. Resolutions will deal with all phases of the field of bacteriology.

Wisconsin Ends Year With Over $9,000,000 Surplus In Treasury

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin begins a new year Friday with her government, agriculture, commerce and industry sound and later conditions favorable. This was the opinion expressed in statements by public officials and men in the service of the state.

The state is prosperous, says Governor Blaine and other officials. Her banks are in good condition, with a smaller percentage of bank and commercial failures than the United States as a whole.

"Despite the big bills which we have paid for highways and other improvements during the past year, Wisconsin today has a surplus of about $9,300,000 in its general fund," said Solomon Levitan, state treasurer. "While this represents the money that has been set aside by the legislature to pay the state's bills for the next six months the finances of the state are nevertheless in an excellent condition."

While further progress is needed by farmers to place them upon an economic equality with industry and organized labor, agriculture in this state is sound, after having passed through an unusually successful year. Commissioner John D. Jones, Jr., declared.

Prosperity in industry is reported by the industrial commission. Labor conditions likewise are favorable, with more employees on the factory payrolls than were employed a year ago.

Meanwhile, the state officials and employees are busy in the public service.

MUCH LITIGATION
Litigation involving millions of dollars will be disposed of within the coming year, Attorney General Herman L. Ekern announced. Millions more are involved in tax suits "which will undoubtedly culminate within the next few months," he said. The constitutionality of the law dealing with oleomargarine, the law providing for automatic stockers on large locomotives, the law relating to the manufacture of cheese and the act providing for the regulation of insurance rates are involved in various suits now pending.

Conditions within the institution under the state board of control have improved materially during the past year, the board reports. Improvements in physical property and operation are cited.

The inmates of the penal and charitable institutions have increased in numbers, the average daily population for 1925 being 5,539 as compared with 5,219 in 1924. The hospitals for the insane are filled beyond their capacity. It is reported. The average daily inmate population of the prison has increased from 713 in 1924 to 755 in 1925. Some relief from the congested conditions will come during the coming year.

MUCH MARRIED
Paris—(AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania is searching far and wide for an elegant son. Crown Prince Carol, since he attended the funeral of Dr. Georges Queux Alexandrescu in London, Carol has failed to show up at the royal palace in Bucharest.

The sunny skies of Italy and the beautiful Italian women, prominent in the social realm, are declared to be the chief attractions which are keeping the 32-year-old heir-apparent to the throne of Rumania aloof from the royal domicile. In other words it is whispered in Parisian social circles that Carol has suffered another heart attack—his third.

Carol has been married twice, once morganatically to Mile. Zayz, a Moldavia professor of good birth but poor, and the second time to Princess Helen of Greece.

The courts of Rumania held that his marriage to Mile. Zayz, was null and void because it was solemnized while he was under an incognito. Carol then left his morganatic wife and married Princess Helen of Greece, daughter of the late King Constantine.

At the time it was said the union was desired with a view to cementing the bonds between Greece and Rumania. Some time afterwards came the report that Carol and Helen had separated and the princess would ask for a divorce.

Because of the gravity of the political situation created by the absence of Crown Prince Carol, a crown council was summoned unexpectedly Thursday.

BAY ACCEPTANCE FIRM IS SUED

New York Corporation Charges Its Forms Are Being Copied in Green Bay

Green Bay—(AP)—A bill of complaint has been filed here against the Industrial Acceptance corporation of Wisconsin by the Industrial Acceptance corporation with main offices in New York City, to restrain the former corporation from operating with the use of forms which are almost identical with those of the complaining organization.

Charging that the similarity of the two names and the use of form which are so much alike are violations of the federal statutes which govern such cases.

It is alleged in the complaint that the fact that the act of the Industrial Acceptance corporation of Wisconsin, defendant, in operation assuming a name similar and at the time identical with the name of the Industrial Acceptance corporation which was organized and existing under the laws of Virginia is confusing the public as to the identity of either corporation and is seriously injuring the business of the plaintiff in the case.

Statements given out of the office of the clerk of federal court at Milwaukee Wednesday gave evidence to the fact that the bill of complaint has been filed and also that the subpoena was served on Dec. 23, at the offices of the Green Bay corporation.

FOUR KILLED AS TROLLEY BRAKES FAIL

Several Are Injured — Car Breaks to Pieces When It Strikes Waterway

MOTORMAN JUMPS SAFELY

Operator Shouts Warning to Passengers, But It Comes Too Late

Tacoma, Wash.—(AP)—An ancient plunge of a street car into the waters of the municipal waterway at Eleventh and the consequent breaking up of the car resulted in the death of four persons and the injury of four others here last night. The car, beyond control of its operator, shot through the open drawbridge and broke as it struck the water. It is believed that the breaking up of the car prevented even greater loss of life.

Failure of the breaks on the car is blamed by Clyde Staley, operator, for the accident. Staley declared he applied the air brakes as the car came to the bridge. At his failure to respond he used the hand brake, he asserted.

Saying that his car was beyond control and an accident unavoidable, Staley threw open the doors and, shouting a warning to the passengers, leaped out. He landed unhurt on the deck of the bridge.

Only one of the passengers had an opportunity to heed the warning and leaped also but not until the street car had toppled from the bridge. He plunged through the air 80 feet to the waters of the bay.

A lifeboat from the steamer Virginia No. 2 tied up to a dock beneath the bridge picked up most of the victims.

MORE PROSPERITY FOR 1926, HOOVER SAYS

Washington, D. C.—The prosperity of 1925 should continue through 1926 in the opinion of Secretary Hoover unless "reckless optimism is permitted to outweigh ordinary caution."

Economic prospects both for this country and the rest of the world, he believes now are more favorable than for a long time past. In a statement the secretary pictured fundamental conditions as favorable but he expressed concern over others including the possibility of extension of speculation into commodities and the extension by foreign government-fostered monopolies, dominating our raw material imports.

The U. S. has produced and consumed more goods in 1925 in proportion to population than ever before in its history, he said, adding that the country's foreign trade was "exceptionally satisfactory."

MARY GARDEN SINGS IN "RESURRECTION"

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—Friends of Mary Garden expect her to reach the apex of her artistic career when she sings the stellar role in "The Resurrection" in its American premiere Thursday night. Miss Garden herself revealed that she expects it to rank next to "Salome," her favorite.

Alfano's opera, based on Tolstoy's famous novel, has been sumptuously prepared for presentation by the Chicago Civic Opera company.

Among the opera star's most interested listeners will be her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Garden of New York. They arrived here Wednesday for family reunion which soon was interrupted, however, for Mary's rehearsal.

GETS WRIT FROM BLAINE TO BRING GIRL FORGER HERE

Prim Now Seeks Signature of Illinois Governor to Bring Prisoner into State

Chief of Police George T. Prim returned Wednesday from Madison with extradition papers for Mrs. Leona Mealy Bell, now being held in Chicago at the request of Appleton police who want her for passing worthless checks here several weeks ago. Chief Prim intends to leave for Springfield, Ill., next Sunday, and if he secures the signature of Gov.
Len Small, he will bring the girl back to Appleton Tuesday.

Mrs. Bell, who is 21 years old, is an Abrams, Wis., girl, but has been living at 834 Wolfram st., Chicago, the past year. She is thought to be the woman who has been victimizing merchants of the Fox River valley the past month with worthless checks. Seven bogus checks are alleged to have been passed by her on local business establishments.

Although young in years, she already has a police record, according to Chief Prim, who says she has been on probation at Chicago for an attempted holdup of a policeman in that city on July 15. She is being held at the detective bureau, pending the arrival of Chief Prim.

A companion, John Getzen, who was using her as a lure, was shot and killed by Police Officer Frank Cunningham last July when they attempted to hold up the officer on the northwest side of Chicago. She also was arrested last spring on a complaint of her former employer at Green Bay and charged with forgery, police records show.

MAIN HIGHWAYS OF COUNTY ARE OPEN FOR AUTOS

Highways in Most Parts of Country in Fair Shape,
Motor Club Reports

Despite the snow-fall over the weekend, all main highways in the county again are passable, according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. Passage can also be made on the majority of side-roads, although drifts in a few places have not been leveled much because of light traffic, he reports.

Many motorists experienced considerable difficulty last Sunday and Monday from deep drifts and were forced to either shovel their way out or secure aid of farmers. The intense cold added much to the discomfort of venturesome drivers.

Drifting of snow in many places is due to the presence of tall weeds along the roadside. Mr. Brusewitz declared. Masses of weeds act as traps for snow, which cannot blow clear of entanglements no matter how strong the wind may be, he points out.

OPEN IN NORTH

All highways are open around Eagle River, and the roads in the vicinity of Delevan are good, according to the weekly report of the Chicago Motor club, a copy of which is on file at the office of the county highway commissioner. Most roads in Michigan are open and in good condition.

As a result of wet and melting snows, dirt roads in the central section of the United States will be soft, while those in Illinois, Indiana and Missouri will be poor and even impassable in many sections, the report states.

Zero weather, accompanied by snow, has swept over all parts of Iowa and practically stopped automobile travel. Southern and southwestern route are in good condition but motorists should follow main trails or inquire locally if desiring to leave them.

Eastern roads are mostly improved highways and are good at all seasons of the year. Western highways are in good condition, late reports indicate, but stormy weather is expected. Motorists have been advised to make inquiry before starting on a western trip at this time.

WARMER IN EAST

Some snow has fallen over practically the entire country within the last few days except in the far south-west and west gulf states. Disturbances have centered in Ohio, New England and the Pacific northwest, temperatures are low in the middle west and northwest and eastern temperatures are mild.

Minnesota trunk highways are open except for sections on the five routes in the southeastern part of the state. Drift-packed snow has caused difficulty in this section, but otherwise few problems have been met thus far in the winter program for open highways.

Southern roads are good, according to the report of the motor club. The east Dixie highway through Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Lexington and Knoxville is in good condition for travel, and only 11 miles of rough travelling is encountered from Lexington to Florida.

The majority of highways in the east are improved and have few detours. The detours are usually well maintained and in good condition. Pittsburgh, Pa., reports all highways coming into that city in good condition.

Western routes are passable and in fair condition.

FIVE DIVISIONS IN HOBBY SHOW

Boys Will Exhibit Wide Variety of Articles at Y. M. C. A. Open House

Five distinct divisions have been mapped out for boys taking part in the Fourth Annual New Years Day Pet and Hobby show of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. The hobby is held Friday afternoon as part of the open house program for New Years day. A silver loving cup, engraved with the club name, will be presented to the club whose members total the largest number of points in the show. Each division will be made up of a number of groups and a grand prize will be awarded in each division beside ribbons for first, second and third places in each group. Entries must be brought to the Y. M. C. A. between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Division one consists of industry, and four groups—woodwork, models, electrical apparatus and arts and crafts comprise the division.

Division two also is called industry, but it consists of five groups: drawings, mechanical drawings, sign writing and posters, printing and photography.

Division three is known as collections and takes in stamps, for which six ribbons will be awarded, coins, buttons, pins and postcards; natural history specimens; great war relics and curios and historic and Indian relics.

Division four takes in live stock and includes pigeons, rabbits, dogs, cats, white mice, chickens and such animals. Each group of pets will be classified and judged separately. Live

ASK HOTELMEN TO PUT BAN ON WILD PARTIES

It will be a very tame New Year's eve for many Wisconsin cities, according to the plans of Lester P. Daniels, Wisconsin Rapids, president of Wisconsin hotel association, who is reported to have issued an "ultimatum" to members of the association putting a ban on New Year's eve parties and celebrations in the member hotels.

No such instructions, however, have been received in Appleton. It was learned here, and private parties will not be prohibited, it was announced.

The statement of Mr. Daniels was said to have been made for the sake of cooperating with the prohibition enforcement administration. The hotel man said that, even at private parties, in which "hip liquor" flows, hotels are liable to prosecution and padlock.

stock must be kept in clean, attractive cages and the owner must care for it during the exhibition.

Division five is divided into four special groups. The first group is father and son section and consists of anything made or collected by a father and son. Group two is radio section and includes anything in the way of radio equipment made by the boy.

Group three is club section and anything in that class must be entered by the group as a whole. Ribbons will be awarded to the club rather than the individual in this group. The final group is miscellaneous section and takes in anything not classified under any of the other groups.

NECESSARY TO PUSH WATERWAY

Chamber of Commerce
Wants Strong Delegation
at St. Paul Meeting

Appleton Chamber of Commerce is desirous of sending several representatives to St. Paul Jan. 5 and 6 for the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater congress. It is believed that unless there is a big attendance and much enthusiasm the gathering may fail of its purpose.

Wisconsin Manufacturers association also is boosting the meeting. The necessity for action, it is said, is the remoteness of the interior of the country from the convenience of ocean freight traffic. The Panama canal has given the east and west a satisfactory tieup for waterway shipping and leaves the interior more remote than ever. Low price shipping is provided around the rim of the United States, while the inland states face higher freight rates than ever before.

More than 20 states would be benefited by the ocean waterway to the Great Lakes, it is argued, and some effort to stimulate action of congress therefore is to be made.

Seventy-five per cent of the tobacco sold in England is sold in the shape of cigarettes.

Radio sets are under a temporary ban by the Venezuelan government. It is claimed that listening-in interferes with the work of the nation. A rat costs a penny a day to feed.

To End Severe Cough
Quickly, Try This

For real results, this old home-made remedy beats them all. Easily prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MORE ABOUT TAXES
We quote the following verbatim from "A Letter to Kenosha Citizens from the City Council," published in pamphlet form and which has come to our desk:
REGARDING YOUR TAXES
You will probably find upon receiving your tax bill that you are paying more tax this year than you paid last year. This is due to the following reasons. The state legislature changed the tax laws at the last session and the law now requires that you pay more tax to the state than you formerly paid. Last year you were privileged to offset your personal property tax against your income tax and paid whatever amounted to the larger sum. The state legislature took this privilege away from you at the last session, so you are now required to pay both your income and your personal property tax. Then, too, last year you had a homestead exemption which saved you $15.50 in tax money. The state legislature repealed this homestead exemption law, taking this exemption away from you.
In order that you may see just how the taxes are divided among the state, county, city and schools the following table is placed here. The tabulation also shows you a comparison of the division of taxes for the years 1925 and 1926.

COMPARISON OF TAXES

	1925	1926	Increase or decrease over last year.
City	$1,017,549	$ 955,459	6% Decrease
Schools	540,669	1,010,121	20% Increase
County	557,161	405,166	1% Increase
State	159,464	542,046	112% Increase

DIVISION OF TAX DOLLAR

Proportioned to	1925	1926
City	45.2 cents	35.2 cents
Schools	38.2 cents	53.3 cents
County	32.1 cents	14.9 cents
State	4.5 cents	12.6 cents

Total 100.00 cents 100.00 cents
The above figures do not take into consideration the state income surtax, which is collected by the city of Kenosha and the entire amount turned over to the state. Last year this tax amounted to $149,552.33. This year it will amount to $137,567.11.
It is interesting to note from this data that of the taxes collected in the city of Kenosha the actual amount of tax money the city will receive in 1926 is $42,061.31 LESS than it received in 1925. The city schools will receive $169,052.29 more than they received in 1925. The county will receive from the city $16,004.57 more than it received in 1925. The state will receive from the city $182,582.62 more than it received in 1925, which is equivalent to approximately three mills of the tax rate. This shows you in a very conclusive way that the increase in taxes is not due to any increased cost of your city government, but the greatest portion of this increase is going to the state.
The 1926 diagram shows you that 35.2 cents of every tax dollar will be spent for the support of the municipality and will be used to pay the city's portion of constructing pavements, sewers and other improvements, to develop your parks, to furnish you with police, fire and health protection, to clean and repair your streets, to collect your garbage, rubbish and ashes, to light your streets, and all the other numerous services your city is called upon to perform.
This 1926 diagram also shows that 37.3 cents out of each tax dollar will be used for school purposes, that 14.9 cents of each tax dollar goes for the expenses of the state.
This tabulation shows that a smaller portion of your increase in taxes is going to the support of your city, schools and county, and that the greatest portion of the increase is going to the support of the state.
We invite Governor Blaine to draw his easy chair up to the fireplace, calmly sit down and smoke the above facts in his pipe. It should act as a sedative on his overwrought nerves and make him less anxious to rush into print with a defense of his recent tax legislation which has raised the taxes of practically every person in the state.

TALK FROM MUSSOLINI
If statements credited to Mussolini are true, the Italian dictator is headed for the rocks. He is represented as telling the world that Italy's "place in the sun" is under-estimated, that its power in the Mediterranean should be such that all the world must recognize it, and that colonial expansion should be its watchword. This is the same kind of prattle we used to hear from William Hohenzollern while he was dictator of Germany. William talked big and helped to get his country into an unforgivable war which all but destroyed it, and the last seen of him in that crisis was a pair of coat-tails making for the Holland border.
We think Mussolini is talking for effect at home as well as abroad. We think it is mostly talk. If it is conceived to make the dictator look larger and more heroic in the eyes of his rose-spectacled followers, it should succeed. If it is to give Italy greater prestige in the councils of Europe, and to make her more favored in the decisions affecting the affairs of the continent, it is not likely to be so impressive. Our private opinion is that Mussolini's exaltation is getting the better of him. He is desperately infatuated with power and place, and one of these fine days he is going to rue his ruthlessness if not his bombast.

Fascism was a saving thing to Italy immediately following the war. It put communism down and it put Italy economically on its feet. It did a great constructive work in a few years, but it has ended by the suppression of individual and social freedom throughout Italy. Such tyranny cannot suffice long in any country in time of peace. What has Mussolini with which to wage wars of conquest? He might impose his will on a weak nation like Greece, but that is about the limit of the tether by which he is well staked to his own shore. Italy hasn't a navy, it has an empty treasury and its credit for war would be n. g. It requires money in great sums to prosecute wars, and Italy's resources in this respect are about nil.
To the imaginative Italian Mussolini as a war dictator may take on god-like proportions, but this will deceive no one but the Italian. It will not even dismay anti-fascists, who are out to "get" the dictator and in all probability will succeed in doing so sooner or later. When Mussolini is gone all this talk about deeds of valor afield will vanish, and Italy will settle down to hard realities.

NEGLECTED ALIBIS
A youth of twenty-one walked out of the coal mines of Iowa twenty years ago this month, vowing never to return. His father had the European idea that a son is the property of the father until he is of age. Therefore for more than ten years he had collected his son's wages every Saturday night. Five months schooling was the total experience of this youth so far as education was concerned.
On his twenty-first birthday he notified his father that hereafter he would collect his own wages, that he was going to school and that he was done with the mine. That Norwegian youth had at least a dozen alibis that he discarded that day. He was ignorant, poor, without a trade, without an influential friend and "belonged" to the laboring "class." But he was also a free man.
The night schools taught him the rudiments of English, mathematics, business letter writing, a smattering of psychology, a little accounting, etc. But he had that which no school could give him—a profound passion for an education and a willingness to work without pitying himself for the necessity. He married a girl who was willing to live in a small flat and wear threadbare clothing while he was "getting ready for the big job." Everything in that home was dedicated to the cause of getting ready.
That was twenty years ago. On January 1st this young man took a position with a Chicago department store in a responsible post at a salary of ten thousand dollars a year. He does not own a car, he has never gambled on the ponies, he does not "Charleston," he does not wear bell-bottom trousers, and he is not chained to the unlit end of a cigaret. But he has a five-year contract with a big firm with a promise of promotion. What he might have done if he had used his alibis it is impossible to say. He would probably still be picking coal down in the bottom of an Iowa mine.

TODAY'S POEM
By HAI COCHRAN
PEACE AND QUIET
I'm thinking of the usual type of home in any town, where little folk, with spirit ripe, each day are runnin' round. They're chasin' in and out the doors and drivin' mother wild. They're tracking dirt across the floors, like any peppy child.
There's hardly any father who has lodged this sort of thing. They know the brand of better that the little people bring. There's hardly any mother whom you need to tell the tale. They've lectured Sis and brother, but it's all to no avail.
We simply know that spirit of all youth must have its fling. And dadda and mothers hear it—it's a pesky little thing. From early morn till night-time, there's a boisterous sort of shout. It's bottled up in kiddies, and I guess it must come out.
But, when the day is over, and the tots are tucked in bed; when little ones have said good night, and stories have been read, there endeth, then, the riot, and the house of noise is shorn. The night brings peace and quiet, till the kids wake up at morn.
A bachelor is a man who is afraid of being seen before he has had breakfast.
The old poet stood in the gutter and looked at the stars. Modern ones stand on the stars and look into the gutter.

NEVER MIND YOUR FEET, KEEP YOUR NOSE DRY
In an instructive contribution to the Minnesota Health Journal on the subject of nasal sinusitis, Dr. F. W. Briggs, whose observations about the "painless and symptomless" character of much chronic nasal disease I quoted here recently, says that our fathers knew nasal sinusitis as a "bad cold" and the condition has a tendency to become chronic, and a chronic nasal sinusitis in child or adult presents in many cases little or no evidence of its presence except at irregular intervals of flaring up of the inflammation in the sinus—"fresh colds," as the wilful prefer to say.
In the course of the article, Dr. Briggs points out that chronic nasal sinusitis is a disease of early life, quite contrary to popular belief. The baby's running nose is likely enough a sign of chronic sinusitis. This condition is one of the many causes of nasal obstruction and mouth breathing in children, which causes are still too frequently overlooked in communities where school nurses and even teachers are permitted to "diagnose" the troubles of school children and even to advise operations for "imaginary adenoids." To state these things badly seems incredible, yet such practices are inevitable wherever medical functions are delegated to other servants. Mr. Briggs doesn't say this; I say it, and I am always prepared to back up what I say or to make the necessary apology for any error or inaccuracy of name which is unfair or wrongs anybody.
The surgical removal of tonsils or adenoids, though often of some benefit to the individual with chronic nasal sinusitis, cannot and does not cure or influence, appreciably, chronic nasal sinusitis. After the adenoids and tonsils are removed, in such cases, Dr. Briggs declares, the nasal discharge continues, as does the tendency to contract head "colds."

Damn it all, I ought to get out the trusty mallet and swing it lustily on Dr. Briggs for the careless and unkindly way he has taken in misleading some "colds," but there is so much sound sense in his article in the Health Journal that I'll have to lay aside the mallet for another time. It is like the doctor I called in when the old appendix went bad on me—a pattering, notoriously slow operator, not only slow in operating but slow to operate, and worse still, a firm believer in that quaint remedy—castor oil—not as a cure for appendicitis or anything like that, for the doctor is no ignoramus, but as a nice, handy and felicitously dependable cathartic dose when such a dose is needed. I say I selected this man to take care of me, and he did the job as well as he could. Although Dr. Briggs is thoughtful in his use of the term "cold," he does not really mean it; nowhere does he attempt to uphold the delusion that folks get it from fresh air, wind, wet or weather.
Now comes the crystallization of the wisdom which Dr. Briggs has put in this little contribution to health. In the middle of a paragraph, tucked away almost out of sight, I find this significant assertion, which deserves to be recorded as a remarkable remark:
Many believe nasal discharge is more or less normal, yet a wet nose cannot function and a functioning nose is not wet.

Think that on your handkerchief box or some where you will see it every little while.
And if you think it at all safe to take my advice I'd say never mind your feet, only so you keep your nose dry.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
The Intelligent Consumptive
A friend has tuberculosis, moderately advanced, and is home on a 10 day visit from the sanitarium. Is there any risk in spending an evening visiting with him? Is anyone ever cured of tuberculosis? Do you think a western climate is better? (J. C. L.)
Answer—The intelligent, careful consumptive is not a menace to anybody. As a rule, patients in the well conducted sanitarium learn, among other valuable lessons, how to be careful, and so they do not endanger other persons. Many thousands of people have been cured of tuberculosis. Climate is a factor of little importance as a rule.

SOME VIEWS ON POKER PLAYING
One Can't Exactly Understand Human Nature Better by Playing This Game

Heywood Brown, In Liberty.
A belief persists that one learns human nature by playing poker. Thomas Edison helped to keep this current by including in one of his questionnaires some inquiry as to what to do with two pair before the draw.
It was not an intelligently framed question. The limit was mentioned, as I remember. But there was no information as to the hour and the status of either contender.
It doesn't seem to me that I have really acquired any tremendous understanding of human nature through playing poker. I do know that when Alec hesitates and says, "Let me see," before raising, that almost certainly he isn't bluffing.
I have learned that John seldom stays on anything less than tens. But that's about all, and one of it is calculated to help me much in the battle with life.
"Why not play for stakes which all concerned can afford to win or lose?"
The trouble with that is there isn't any limit to the sum of money which a man can afford to win and your true gambling addict generally expects to win.
Moreover, he likes the excitement in the threat of overwhelming disaster which can come out of stakes much higher than his income warrants.
"The extra hour (or 10 hours) which is added on after quitting time is always referred to as 'giving the loser a chance.'" My estimate is that in 92,537 cases out of 100 the victim continues to sulk. It must be so. Luck is only a minor element in poker. That great assets are calm and confidence.
Once things begin to go badly against a player, he loses his perspective. He is both too bold and too timid. A losing player can be bullied and he always is.

NOSE IS POOR JUDGE OF ODORS
Very Few Objects Can Be Recognized by Human Smell, Simple Tests Indicate

E. E. Free, In The Forum.
The sense of smell is a neglected sense. Nearly any modern man will recognize, by sight, literally millions of objects. He can identify thousands of distinct sounds. But how many things can be recognized by smell? Probably not over a dozen, even those with much uncertainty.
We have been making some experiments recently among our friends. We have a small medicine case with a dozen bottles in it. All the bottles look exactly alike. Each contains a different well-known odor: lemon, coffee, violet, vanilla, butter, other equally familiar.

WHOLE STORY NOT TOLD BY SCIENCE
Reveals More for Person to Wonder at but Doesn't Prove Many Theories

Charles D. Stewart, In The Atlantic Monthly.
Eternity is difficult to admit. A thing without end is beyond the reach of thought. On the other hand it is just as difficult to admit that there could be an end to time or space—beyond which point there would be neither time nor space. Both are impossible.
Evolution, practically, is something is the same line. At first it is a supreme act of faith, under the guise of a "working hypothesis" and very soon it has become a sort of tard or vinegar or something still wider of the truth.
One man said that this bottle was "something that I smell in California. I can't remember just what." Flower odors are usually identified with remembered scenes or persons in the past, very seldom with the flowers themselves.
An other interesting experiment is this: Take a flower, such as a violet, and remove the odor from it. Certain chemicals will do this. Then scent the deodorized flower with some other odor for example, with that of lilacs. Most people who smell this trick flower will identify its odor as violet, which is what it looks as though it ought to be. They judge by sight, not smell.
But many of them will sense, obscurely, that something is wrong. They say that it smells "funny." Some of them suggest that the flower is old and stale. The unconscious part of our smell-receiver in the mind is still on the job and is not entirely fooled. It realizes that this particular smell-message is somehow very wrong. But our consciousness, being eye-minded, prevails.

BLAZE DESTROYS FARMER'S HOME

John Raddatz, Freedom, Suffers Loss of $3,800 in Fire Wednesday

Freedom—Fire starting in the kitchen attic at 12:30 Wednesday afternoon destroyed the farm home of John Raddatz, who lives three miles south of Freedom village, and most of the contents. The blaze was first noticed when it was eating its way through the roof and probably was caused by a defective chimney.

The estimated value of the house is $6,000 and of the furniture $800. Insurance amounting to $2,500 was in effect on the house and $500 on the furniture. The Cicero Mutual Fire Insurance company, with offices at Seymour, carried the risk. A few pieces of furniture were saved. As no help reached the fire in time to be of assistance, no attempt at fire fighting was made.

The family of Mr. Raddatz have taken up temporary abode in a new, unoccupied farm building which will be made as comfortable as possible. Building operations will probably be started very soon.

MASTERPIECE OF IRONY AND ENTERTAINMENT IS FILM

"Time, the Comedian," the Metro-Goldwyn Mayer picture which is showing at the Elite Theatre today and tomorrow is a society drama of yesterday and today treating of the adventures of a frivolous, pleasure mad mother who lives to see the havoc wrought by her goings-on when her daughter comes to the marriageable age. It is built on situations which attain the blood-heat of emotional drama at an early stage in the picture and retain that temperature right on up to the end.

The production had been skilfully directed by Robert Z. Leonard. He has caught the ironic mood of the piece to a surprising degree and made his situations quite plausible and decidedly entertaining.

The acting is of a high order. Lew Cody and Mae Busch render superb performances as the pharisee and the wife respectively. The remainder of the cast more than do justice to the roles entrusted to their care. They are all familiar to picturegoers, being such favorites as Gertrude Olmsted, Creighton Hale, Paulette Goddard, Roy Stewart, Mae Ebbels, Robert Ober, David Mir, Nellie Parker Spaulding, Temple Saxe, Frank Elliott, Shannon Day, George Periolat, Lillian Langdon, Gertrude Bennett and Jacques Abbot.

LITTLE REVELRY IN PROSPECT FOR NEW YEARS EVE

Threat of Prohibition Raids Expected to Hold Turbulent Spirits in Check

Although Milwaukee and immediate vicinity will be thoroughly picketed by federal prohibition officials New Years eve, no concerted action to prevent violation of the eighteenth amendment will be made by dry men in and about Appleton, as far as could be learned by local authorities.

This does not guarantee the absence of prohibition men in Outagamie-co., of course, for if any raids are to be conducted here, the fact quite naturally would not be advertised. On their last visit here about two months ago, it was intimated by one official that this county would come under the surveillance of the prohibition department on the night of Dec. 31.

Appleton hotels have all closed their doors to wild New Year eve parties, and proprietors of nearby roadhouses have signified their intention of doing everything in their power to curb drinking Thursday night.

"I would not think of allowing any functions to take place at my hotel on New Year eve," one hotel manager said. Even though we do not sell liquor, we would be liable to charges of violation of the prohibition act if any liquor were found on the person of any of our guests. It might even result in a pickoff for Dec. 31.

Indications are that a large number of parties will be held at private residences or clubs. Many people do not care to chance a meeting with "dry" agents and have arranged functions at which only their own particular friends will be included.

A warrant was issued Wednesday afternoon for the arrest of Louis Hahn and his wife of Hamble's corners, town of Center. They are charged with possessing and selling soft drinks without a license. The complaint was made by Frank Schroeder, town chairman.

A raid was conducted at the Hahn place by prohibition men several months ago and although no intoxicating liquor was found on the premises, a bottle of pop was taken along by the authorities. An analysis of the pop showed that there was a small amount of alcohol, less than one-half of one per cent, but if there is any alcohol in a beverage in a refreshment, the owner must secure a license for the sale of it, according to John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney. Hahn has refused to take out a license, the district attorney stated.

This action is not thought to have any connection with possible raids Thursday evening.

What Milwaukee will be a dry city Thursday night is indicated by the orders which all prohibition men have received there. The orders include the following:

Pick up anyone seen with liquor; inspect every hotel dining room and every travel in pairs as assigned; play no favorites; arrest both men and women violators; report results to headquarters; be ready to be transferred to another district immediately upon call.

403 COUPLES GIVEN LICENSES TO MARRY

Application for marriage licenses was made Wednesday at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, by Carl A. Reitz and Helen M. Sterling, both of Appleton. This probably will be the last marriage license to be issued this year, as no other couples had appeared at the county clerk's office by noon Thursday.

A total of 403 marriage licenses were issued by Mr. Hantschel this year, according to his records. Only 233 were issued in 1924. Marriage licenses for 1925 brought in receipts of $403, half of which goes to the state and half to the county clerk to defray expenses for issuing them.

Hunters for licenses this year. A fee of $1 is charged for each. Trapping licenses numbered 253. Besides the $1 fee, an additional 5 cents is charged for each tag.

NEW POOL HALL WILL BE OPENED THIS WEEK

Clifford Moore, formerly of Niagara, will open a pool and billiard hall Thursday evening in the west side of the new George Walsh Co. building at E. College-ave and S. Superior-st. Mr. Moore has been installing fixtures and equipment in the building during the last week. The billiard parlor will be one of the most elaborate in the Fox river valley. About $10,000 worth of equipment has been installed, including five billiard and pool tables, and a white marble soda fountain. Mr. Moore will move his family to this city from Niagara as soon as he finds a suitable residence.

FREE CHEST CLINIC TO BE HELD HERE SATURDAY

The regular monthly free chest clinic of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Appleton Womens club rooms. The clinic is sponsored by the club and Dr. C. D. Boyd of Riverview sanatorium is in charge of the work. The examinations are held here on the first Saturday of each month and are free to all residents of the city and vicinity. Persons having chest and throat troubles are urged to attend the clinic.

SOLDIER DIES

HUGH HAGEN

HUGE TASK TO ISSUE PERMITS TO CAR OWNERS

Madison, Wis.—(AP)—The end of 1925 finds the office of Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman engaged in the huge task of issuing license plates and certificates of title to six hundred thousand automobile owners, for 1926.

Two hundred clerks, with the aid of the latest types of labor saving machinery, are employed in the work of the licensing division. The fees to be collected from owners of motor vehicles in 1926 will amount to approximately $9,000,000, Secretary Zimmerman said.

"It is so easy to say 'six hundred thousand' that few realize what an enormous task it is to merely write the names and addresses of so many machines, not to mention the folding of papers, collecting the several forms, piece by piece, and putting them into envelopes which must be sealed and stamped," the secretary of state continued. "There are more than 600,000 of these envelopes each of which contains an application for registration, an application for certificate of title, a coin card in which the applicant should mail the fee of 25 cents for title, and a return envelope.

"One person, without machinery, working steadily during a long lifetime, couldn't possibly accomplish this task. Yet this is only the beginning, the preparation for the real task of registration for 1926, which is vastly increased over that of former years, and greatly complicated by the enactment of the title law which goes into effect on New Year's day. It is only through organized teamwork, and with the aid of every kind of labor-saving machine, that it can be accomplished at all."

PETTRAN BUYS STOCK OF BANKRUPT STORE

A. L. Petran, 537 N. Division-st., purchased the stock and fixtures of the Otto Pautz grocery store at 225 N. Appleton-st., at a trustees sale Wednesday afternoon for $850. Fifty bidders were present at the sale which was conducted by Charles D. Brown of Oshkosh, trustee. The sale was confirmed by the United States district court, represented by C. E. Behnke, referee in bankruptcy.

The building owned by the John Wissman estate, Mr. Pautz purchased the stock from his brother-in-law, Otto Rogge, almost a year ago and he was declared bankrupt last month. Mr. Petran will operate the store with the aid of a partner, Earl Fraser, formerly connected with the Paser Lumber Co. The place is being put in order and redecorated this week and it will be open for business Monday, according to the new proprietors.

CIVIL WAR VET AND PAST COUNTY OFFICIAL DEAD

Hugh Hagen of Hortonville. Leader in G. A. R., Lived to Age of 83

Hortonville.—Hugh Hagen, 84, Civil war veteran, leader of the Grand Army of the Republic and former public official, died at his home here at 5:12 Wednesday afternoon. He had been ill for several weeks.

Mr. Hagen was born Nov. 6, 1841 in Franklin-co., New York, and came to Wisconsin when a boy. He lived on a farm at Greenville until the Civil war broke out. Enlisting at the age of 21 years, he became a member of the famous Company I. Thirty-second Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry. He participated in Sherman's memorable march to the sea and marched 1,763 miles during his army service. He was wounded in battle and spent eight months in a hospital.

On Oct. 21, 1865 the soldier received his honorable discharge and returned to Greenville. He resumed his farming and at the time of his retirement 26 years ago owned 117 acres. He took up residence at Hortonville when he moved from the farm.

While a resident of the town of Greenville Mr. Hagen served as its chairman for several years and as a member of the Outagamie-co. board. He was president of the village of Hortonville for four years and had been a trustee and supervisor for many terms.

It was through efforts of the veteran that the Hortonville post of the Grand Army of the Republic is in existence today. Others wanted to abandon the organization when its ranks began to dwindle, but he insisted on keeping it alive. He was its commander at his death and held that office for several years. Mr. Hagen also was president of the G. A. R. reunion and held one of the best in its history on Oct. 6, 1924, at Hortonville.

He is survived by four children: Robert, Fountain City, Neb.; Mrs. C. Bergh, Chicago; Mayme and Hugh, Hortonville; one brother, George, Shawano.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Sunday afternoon at the Baptist church. The Rev. A. W. Bell, New London, will be in charge and will be assisted by the Rev. John Miller and the Rev. T. E. Holland. Interment will be made in Hortonville cemetery.

The Annual Meeting of the stockholders of The Appleton Wooden Mills will be held at the office on Jan. 14th, 2 P. M.

STATE ENDS YEAR WITH MILLIONS IN TREASURY

sin during the past year was described by Commissioner W. Stanley Smith as "booming." The volume of insurance written, amount of claims paid, premium, income and additions to assets are greater than a year ago, he states. The holding company tendency—the organization of holding companies for the alleged purpose of acquiring stock control of successful companies or offering opportunity for profit in reinsurance, consolidation or elimination—was described as "the one dark spot in this remarkable biggest year of insurance." Strict regulatory laws are needed, the commissioner said.

Health conditions are improved, the board of health reports, with advancement in the efforts to curb disease by preventive measures.

GUARD FORESTS

Elmer S. Hall, conservation commissioner, and his staff report progress toward preserving the forests and other natural resources of the state. Measures for the prevention and suppression of forest fires were inaugurated during the closing year. The state supreme court has disposed of appeals with dispatch and will begin its new term in 1926 with a fresh calendar. A number of cases of outstanding importance were decided during 1925, including the first reprobation of the new home rule amendment and a ruling that beer and wine in the home are safe from search and seizure under the state prohibition law if the beverages are not manufactured or possessed for sale.

The railroad commission has been representing the state in several ratemaking cases of importance, in which it is endeavoring to protect the state's interests. The commission opposed proposed increases in both eastern and western freight rates and also in the commodity rates on cheese.

"In the field of railroad service and safety," it states, "the year has been marked by a decided tendency on the part of the railroads to effect economies in the operation of trains to offset the declining passenger traffic. The steadily growing use of the private automobile and the wide extension of automobile bus service have resulted in a material reduction in the local passenger traffic handled by the railroads. Schedules have been adjusted in various parts of the state and numerous trains have been taken off."

TRACTION SUFFERS

The utility business is generally in a very healthy condition, marked by good service and moderate capitalization, the railroad commission reports. However, the year was described as a bad one for the electric railways. The year was marked by a distinct tendency toward consolidation, a large number of small electric utilities having been purchased by larger companies and connected to high tension transmission lines.

Permits were granted for the construction of three dams to develop about 17,000 horsepower for 50 per cent of the time. The total developed waterpower in the state now is 400,000 horsepower for 50 per cent of the time. The undeveloped water power in the state which could be economically developed is estimated at about 175,000 horsepower.

The state prohibition force has been active with the result that the holidays which marked the closing of 1925 were free of outward appearances of lawlessness. The agents made progress toward eradicating alleged "wild west" conditions in Sawyer-co and broke up several "nests" of moonshiners along the Mississippi river.

With the aid of the "Wisconsin Spirit of Service," the civil service commission has about completed its task of classifying and standardizing the state service. A. F. Garvey, secretary of the commission reports.

HEALTH GOOD

Except for outbreaks of three dangerous diseases, Wisconsin in 1925 passed through a highly favorable year from the standpoint of health. This was reported today by the state board of health.

"As much can not be said, however, for certain of the constitutional diseases, notably, cancer, nephritis, and heart disease, which are increasing year by year," states the board.

Wisconsin agriculture, which has just passed through an unusually successful year, is sound, Commissioner John D. Jones Jr., stated.

Telling of "distinct advances" that the cooperative movement made in the state in 1925, Commissioner Jones asserted that the immediate job of greatest importance in this field is the organization of the creamery interests of the state, "for the purpose of marketing Wisconsin butter under a trade name."

Factors needed for improvement of the farmer's condition, he said, are efficient operation of farms, a rational land policy, development of the cooperative movement and provision for the orderly disposition of surplus crops.

Licensing of dealers in Florida real estate and the stopping of the sale of Wisconsin land through cross-word puzzle advertisements were outstanding among activities of the Wisconsin real estate board during 1925.

Only three licenses have been granted to persons or corporations whom it was known were to sell Florida land, either in subdivision lots or agricultural tracts, the board reported. The board has adopted resolutions that no licenses for such sales shall be granted except upon careful examination.

The cross-word puzzle advertisement appeared largely in Illinois and Iowa and announced that a lot would be given for the correct solution of the puzzle, which the board said, "was always so simple as to be self-solving."

TELEGRAM FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO SALLY ATHONTON:

Will you please give to some charity in Hollywood one hundred dollars in memory of my dear father, Leslie Prescott. I did not send flowers because I knew there would be more than could be taken care of. If possible I should like the money to go to some poor young mother to help her care for her child and keep it with her. Give my sincerest sympathy to Dick and keep some for yourself. I know how much you thought of her and how much you will miss her.

LETTER FROM PAULA PERRIER TO SYDNEY CARTON:

You know I came to you once when I was in great trouble, and you were so kind and sympathetic at that time that you saved my life, and also the life of my child. So at this time I am coming to you again. I am not in great trouble now, Syd, but I have a very serious problem to work out, and I don't know what to do. You have probably heard Leslie Prescott speak of Dick Summers, and I suppose you have heard of her death.

My dear Sydney: This wife of mine was not it into her head that her husband and I were in love with each other, or at least that we were more than ordinarily interested. I don't know what Mr. Summers said or did that gave her this impression, for I am certainly not interested in Richard Summers except as a friend. I liked her very much better than I did him.

Since she came here as Mr. Summers' wife, we have been very good friends. The other day before she died—she lived only ten days after the baby came—she called me into her room one afternoon and told me she wanted me to take the baby and bring it up.

I didn't know what to say. It seemed unkind to refuse the request of a dying woman, especially as I love babies so much, and have been saying all along that I would like to adopt one.

However, I know that if I adopt Dick Summers' child, I am going to shake Hollywood to its center. Besides all this, I do not know if I am prepared to have this bond between me and Dick Summers. Perhaps his wife was right about Dick, and she wanted to make it easy for us to drop into that intimacy which ends in marriage.

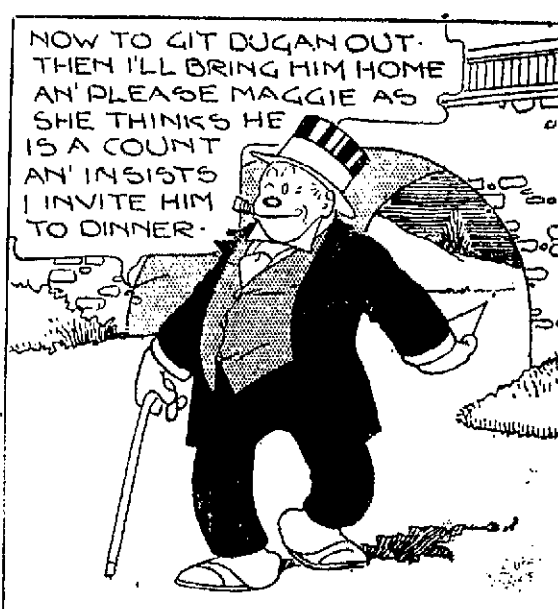

But, Syd, I don't want to marry Dick Summers, or for that matter any other man. I'd love to have the baby, but I do not want Dick. What shall I do, mon ami?

PAULA.

CARDINALS OUTCLASS MANITOWOC CAGERS, 31-21

Crack Boosters Drop 1st Game On Home Floor In 3 Years To Appleton Squad

McAuliffe Cages 8 Baskets as Cards Cop; Two Rivers Conquers Sheboygan, 34-32

APPLETON	1	3	.250
Oconto	1	6	.143

WEDNESDAY GAMES
APPLETON 31, MANITOWOC 21.
Two Rivers 34, Sheboygan 32.

GAMES
Friday—Two Rivers at Sheboygan; Oconto at Beloit.
Saturday—Oconto at Fond du Lac.
MONDAY—BELOIT AT APPLETON.

Displaying a brand of caging which would make any team in the Interstate Pro League play over its head to win, the Appleton Cardinals added the second straight game to their comeback streak Wednesday evening at Manitoowoc when they made the crack Manitoowoc Boosters eat their dust, 31-21. Manitoowoc boasts one of the best pro teams in the state and had not lost a game this year, while its wins included a victory over the Fondy Interstate loop crew at Fondy. Fact is Manitoowoc had not been beaten on its home floor for three straight years, a record which they boast about in the Ship city. The Boosters are cracks on that floor, where they are used to every crack and receive and the victory for the Cards came as a blow to many Manitoowoc fans who never expected to live to see the day when the Boosters lost at home. The Appleton team travels to Berlin Thursday night in an attempt to add to its newly-started win streak and get another game under its belt before the Beloit game Monday. At present things look bright for a local win over Beloit on the Army G floor.

McAuliffe was the outstanding star of the fray with his mates right on heels. The lanky center scored eight field goals and could not be stopped even when the desperate Boosters threw an extra man in his path. Busby and Jorgensen each added three neat baskets and Christoph came through with his first one of the year. The score at the half was 17-16 for Appleton and from there on they gradually forced ahead. Total was unable to make the trip because of inability to arrange his affairs so soon after arriving here but he will be in the lineup against Beloit on Monday.

Sheboygan—Sheboygan's American Legion basketball team dropped from a tie for first place in the Interstate Pro cage loop Wednesday night when it lost a tough battle to Two Rivers at the latter's home, 34-32. Two Rivers and the Cards were tied for the top before the game. Thursday evening, Two Rivers comes to Sheboygan for a game and the Cards expect to turn the tables and the matters up once more.

The game was one of the best played in the Rivers gym with the Delmoremen working hard for every point. The score was tied for 12 straight minutes near the end of the fray the winning basket coming in the final minutes. During the tie, the crowd kept on its feet almost the entire time by the work of both teams, moving up and down the floor and missing tries at the basket or losing the ball without scoring a point. Westcott, star Two Rivers guard, who has been the main cog in keeping his team on top all season, again was the star of the game, getting 11 perfect ringers for 22 of his team's scores. Eckhardt and Roth starred on the floor for the Cards and caged 6 and 1 baskets, respectively.

Title Grid Squads Clash In Rose Tournament Game

BY BILLY EVANS

When Washington meets Alabama at Pasadena, Calif., New Year's day in the Tournament of Roses classic, it will be a clash between two championship teams.

Washington, undefeated on the coast, conquerors of Stanford and California, holds the Pacific Conference title. Alabama is the champion of the south.

Regardless of which team wins, the ultimate alibi will not be offered by the vanquished.

Eastern and middle west teams have been badly handicapped by the almost mid-summer weather that has usually greeted them. Alabama is accustomed to hot weather. It will be the first time the two teams in this big game have met on so even a basis as to weather conditions.

Washington boasts a great team. Coached by Enoch Bagshaw, it was able to overthrow the reign of California that has lasted for five years on the coast.

The outstanding stars of the Washington backfield are Wilson at halfback, an All-America choice; Tressau at fullback, the only man to ever outplay Nevers of Stanford, and Quarterback Guttersen, the brains of the team.

For two years Alabama, under Coach Wade, has won the southern championship. In the three years

SATURDAY'S GAME
APPLETON AT FOND DU LAC

Kimberly-Clark Athletic leaders of the Eastern Wisconsin Home Talent basketball loop, were given an unexpected rest Wednesday evening when their scheduled game with Menasha at the Pail city was called off by the home team. Menasha was unable to get the usual hall for the game and was forced to cancel it. The game will not count as a forfeit for the loop leaders, however, but will be played later if the faltering Pails manage to stilet in the league.

Win Over New Dormitory Squad Keeps Meyer Press on Top; Lawyers Are Close Second.

WEDNESDAY GAMES
Meyer Press, Y-Dormitory 2.
Lawyers 13, Post-Crescent 5.

Meyer Press Co. ball team clung to its slight lead in the Y, M. C. A. Industrial Indoor Baseball loop Wednesday evening by a hard-fought 5-2 win over the Y-Dormitory team, playing its first league game. The Lawyers stuck right on the heels of the pacemakers by drubbing the Post-Crescent crew, 13-5. The first game was a hummer with the new squad playing great ball for the first effort on the inside floor against a more experienced foe. However, Stick Colvin's speedball was well under control and he allowed only a few scattered hits for two runs while his mates scored six. Batteries were Collins and Rayer for Meyer Press and Paul Wesco and Duffner for the "Y."

The Lawyers had an easy time leading the Post-Crescent men with Eddie Sternard out of the lineup. They bottled Wagner for eight runs and then added five more on Bender in the final frame. The P-C men just started hitting near the end of the game when they counted three runs. Koepke starred for the P-C squad with three walks to his credit in four bats. Lineups were:

Lawyers—Wheeler, p; Pelkey, c; Keller, lb; Bradford, ss; Sigmund, cf; Post-Crescent—Wagner, p; Sigmund, c; Hartzell, lb; Bender, ss; Cartier, cf; Leitzinger, cf; Koepke, 3b.

McGraw is banking on Eddie Farrell, former University of Pennsylvania shortstop, to be a great help to the New York Giants next season.

Fullback Freddie Lamprich of Tulane was the George Kelly of football. He played six different positions last season and did them all very well.

FIVE TEAMS TIED FOR TOP RUNG IN ELK PIN LEAGUE

Postponed Battle Between Leading Butternuts and 5th-place Walnuts Makes Tie

Taking two out of three games of a long postponed match in the Elk League from the Butternuts, loop leaders, the Walnut pinner sent five teams into a tie for top honors Tuesday night on the Elk alleys in the closest race the league has ever seen. Before the postponed match was played the Butternuts led with the Doughnuts, Hazelnuts and Cocoanuts tied for second place and the Walnuts in fifth. Taking two out of three games was just enough to bring the loop leaders down to a tie with the second place squads and raise the winning Walnuts from fifth place into the top rung tie. Several important games are to be played in the loop Friday night with the result that the tie will be broken and probably only two squads will hold the tie for the top. Before the postponed match was played the Butternuts mark was 16 wins, 8 losses and 667 per cent while the Walnuts had 15 wins, 9 losses and 625 per cent.

The first game of the match resulted in a tie battle when both teams hit 845 and by agreement the winner of the second game was awarded the first. The Walnuts took the second game by 89 pins and thereby added the first game. However, the Butternuts copped the second game by 84 pins and squeezed out with a 25 pin win in the match in spite of the loss in games. A 224 score by P. Berringer put the second game on ice for the Walnuts.

Berringer's 224 was the only double century mark of the evening and it was as high game. It also gave him a 555 for high series of the match. A 394 by Meyer was high for the Butternuts and his 542 was high series for his team.

RIVERSIDES PLAY STRANGE CO. FIVE

Strange Paper Co. basketball team of Menasha will battle the Riversides Fibre and Paper Co. squad at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Y, M. C. A. gymnasium as a part of the New Year's day open house program of the association. The public is invited to attend the game. The Riversides team will be a member of the 1926 Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basketball League and promises to be one of the strongest contenders for the loop title. Its management has arranged a schedule of games for the year which includes battles with outside teams. The Pacemakers opened their schedule with a battle with a Green Bay independent team at the Bay Wednesday evening.

Members of the squad are Tom Davis, formerly with the Valley Sports and Appleton Aces, Ted Rieker, Appleton high school and Island Paper Co., and Pete Schweager, Appleton high school and American Legion player, at forwards; Myron Plinkow, former Bushy Business college and Interlake Co. player, and Brock, centers; Berro, Appleton high school and Island Paper Co., and Kaufman, Co. D player, at guards.

VET PITCHERS MAKE GOOD BALL COACHES

New York—Big league pitchers are getting popular as baseball coaches. For years Jeff Tesreau, once a star with the New York Giants, has been in charge at Dartmouth. He has met with great success and is very popular among the students.

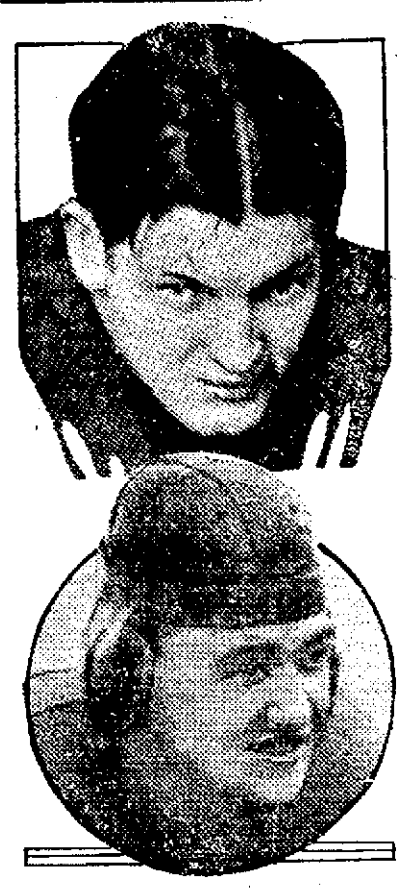

Joe Wood, who made his reputation in the American League with the Boston Red Sox, is in charge at Yale. He has been very successful since taking over the coaching of the Blue baseball candidates.

Jack Coombs, who achieved fame with the Athletics, is assistant at Princeton and no doubt will be chosen as Bill Clarke's successor, when the veteran catcher of years ago steps out.

Harvard must set in the running if it hopes to cope with Yale and Princeton. Using the graduate coach system last year, the famous Eddie Mahan met with poor success.

If Tony La Zerre keeps up his minor league record with the Yanks he is going to hog some of Babe Ruth's spotlight. Last season he battled in 222 runs in the Coast League and scored 202 himself.

RIVAL LEADERS

BRUCE JONES, ABOVE, AND ELMER TESREAU

Presenting the captains of the two contesting universities in the inter-sectional grid games between Alabama and Washington at Pasadena New Year's Day, Jones, the southern leader, plays a guard and is reputed to be one of the best the Crimson Tide has had in years. Tesreau is a fullback and many experts rank him next to Ernie Nevers of Stanford as the greatest ever developed in that section. Tesreau, in fact, outplayed the Warner ace in the Washington-Stanford clash last fall.

HINKEY, GREAT YALE END, DIES IN N. C.

New York—(AP)—Frank Augustus Hinkey, "the silent captain" of Yale football teams of 30 years ago, missed a tackle at the last and illness has scored. One of the greatest ends of all time lies dead in Southern Pines, N. C.

Hinkey played football in the days of giants, flying wedges, tandems, hurdling and pileups. And it is recorded that never did the fleetest back get around the end guarded by the "silent captain." His football was that of the old days—a battle to unconsciousness and the survival of the fittest.

Hinkey was a native of Tonawanda, N. Y. In recent years he had been a salesman in the south, drawn there by the pine forests which were supposed to help him fight his illness.

K-C CAGE SQUAD WORKS FOR CRACK KOHLER QUINTET

Two of Strongest Semi-pro Court Fives in Northern Wisconsin Meet on Jan. 12

Kimberly — The strong Kohler Co. team of Kohler, headed by Louie Loose one of the best basketball players produced in the Fox River valley will meet "Ossie" Cooke's K. C. Athletics in the Kimberly Clubhouse on January 12. Loose was coach and captain of the K. C. squad last year. He accepted a position with the Kohler Co. as athletic director. He also holds down a forward position with his team. Louise has played basketball in this section for the last ten years and is noted for his heady play. With the team he has assembled basketball fans can look for a real game. Kohler has won all of their games for this year, defeating some of the best teams in that section of the state. With all the players rounding into good shape, the Athletics hope to give the Kohler squad a hot battle. Among the Kohler victims were Fox River Paper Co. squad of Appleton, who were easy victims to the speedy Loosemen. As Kimberly heads the E. W. loop without a loss, and Kohler has one of the strongest crews in the state, the game will be worth traveling far to see.

YOUTH BEATS JOCK IN MIAMI TOURNEY

Miami, Fla. — (AP) — Golfing paid homage Thursday to its newest sensation, an unobtrusive 21-year old who Wednesday led a brilliant field of present and past champions to win Miami's second annual golf open championship tournament at Hialeah.

Willie Klein, professional at Wheatley Hill club, Long Island, with a total of 289 had the lowest score in the 72 hole stroke competition. His rounds were 71-74-75-69.

Klein left no doubt as to his prowess in forcing three strokes ahead of his nearest rival, Jack Hutchinson.

Hutchinson had a fleeting chance to capture the laurels when he came through the morning round Tuesday with a low score of 217.

Bobby Jones, national amateur champion and Willie MacFarlane, national open champion, played a spectacular threesome Wednesday with Sarazen and are still endeavoring to break the deadlock hoodoo which has followed them from the national open tourney at Worcester. At the end of the first 36 holes, their cards showed 149 each.

ROSENBERG, SANGOR LOSE COAST BOUTS

Los Angeles, Calif.—Doc Snell, Tacoma, Wash., won on a foul from Charles "Tilt" Rosenberg, world's bantamweight champion, six rounds. "Oakland" Johnny Farr, defeated Joey Sangor, Milwaukee featherweight, ten rounds. Royal Colman, Denver welterweight beat Billy Fisher, Los Angeles, four rounds.

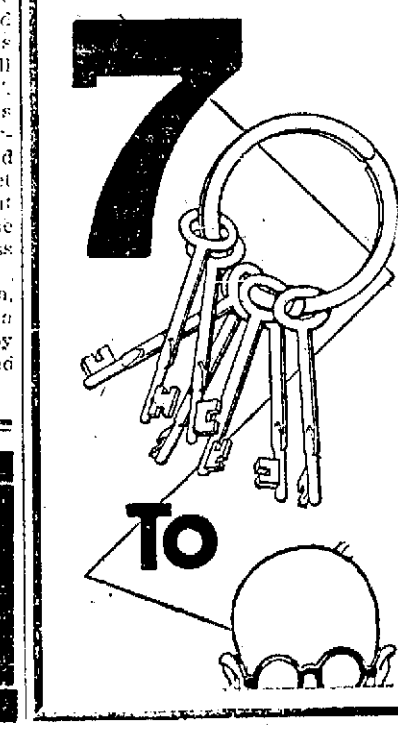

"SNOOKS" DOWD PLAYS IN PRO COURT LEAGUE

"Snooks" Dowd, speedy second baseman, who was once given a trial by the Detroit Tigers, is now playing professional basketball with Boston. He plays a forward, is a good floor man and a clever shot. He's regarded one of the stars on the quintet.

MARQUETTE CREW BATTLES IOWANS

Murraymen Have Split Even in Two Past Games With Strong Big Ten Cage Quintet

Milwaukee—Varsity basketball will be resumed here Saturday night Jan. 2, with Coach Frank Murray's Marquette university cagers renewing relations with the University of Iowa quintet in the Marquette gymnasium. It will be a "rubber" affair, each team having won a game from the other in the last two seasons.

Thus far, Marquette has defeated Minnesota, Milwaukee Normal and Milton, and has lost to Wisconsin. Coach Murray's team, with the exception of Capt. Bob Demoling a guard, is made up entirely of sophomores, and it is taking diligent training to mould this green material into varsity form. Razner and Herte, forwards; Dunn, center, and Thranow, guard, complete the lineup.

Following the Iowa game, the Marquette cagers face Mercer of Macon, Ga. in an inter-sectional game here, Jan. 5, after which they start a southern invasion. The schedule follows: Jan. 2, Iowa in Milwaukee; Jan. 5, Mercer in Milwaukee; Jan. 8, Millikin in Decatur, Ill.; Jan. 9, St. Louis university in St. Louis; Jan. 11, Vanderbilt in Nashville, Tenn.; Jan. 12, Georgia Tech in Atlanta, Ga.; Jan. 13, Mercer in Macon, Ga.; Jan. 23, Creighton in Milwaukee; Feb. 4, Lawrence at Appleton, Wis.; Feb. 6, Butler in Milwaukee; Feb. 11, Michigan Aggies at East Lansing, Mich.; Feb. 12, St. Victor's college at Kankakee, Ill.; Feb. 13, Loyola in Chicago; Feb. 18, Loyola in Milwaukee; Feb. 20, Lawrence in Milwaukee; Feb. 26, Des Moines at Des Moines, and Feb. 27, Creighton at Omaha, Neb.

MOSTIL JUST MISSED MAKING .300 CIRCLE

One little point made quite a difference in the hitting mark of John "Moeth" White Sox star last season. It kept him out of the .300 circle. In 1923 he was nine points shy of the coveted figure, while in 1924 he was just a bare point over the mark.

Sam Rice of Washington, despite his many years of service, continues to be one of the best base runners in the American League. In 37 tries last season he was safe 26 times.

ICE CAPTAIN

JOHN MANSER

John Manser is captain of the Dartmouth hockey team and one of the outstanding pastimes in the eastern intercollegiate league. He's a veteran puck-chaser and with him at the helm followers of the Big Green combination are anticipating a successful season in the great winter sport. Fact is, Manser and his mates are out for top honors.

BROTHERS ARE ASSETS IN M. U. ATHLETICS

Milwaukee — Brother combinations are not uncommon in Marquette university athletic circles, and the current year has seen Cliff and Len Kampine, both formerly of Annapolis, starting at guard on the Golden Avalanche football team, while Eddie and Ery Herte are forwards on the basketball team, Jim Regan, sub football tackle this season, was preceded at Marquette by another of his family, Charlie Regan, a star end, whose vocal ability a few years ago won for the local team the name of the "Singing Hilltoppers." Don Curtin, brilliant quarterback this season, is a brother of Lee Curtin, a Marquette star of a decade ago. Perhaps the best known family combination at Marquette, however, is that of the Dunn brothers. "Red" Dunn was the Golden Avalanche's all-American, quarterback in 1922 and 1923 and was basketball in the American League. In 37 tries last season he was safe 26 times.

BADGER CAGERS WORK FOR FIRST BIG TEN BATTLE

DePauw Is Last Preliminary Foe Before Conference Scrap With Minnesota Squad

Madison—(AP)—The Wisconsin basketball squad is going through stiff workouts this week in preparation for the game with the De Pauw here Saturday and the opening contest of the Western conference season with Minnesota here next Monday.

The Badgers improved steadily in the preliminary games, but strenuous training is scheduled for this week to put the team in condition after the holiday idleness. Coach W. E. Menzies appears to have a team capable of a more successful season than that of a year ago.

The development of Mallie Nydahl into a first class scoring forward has been a satisfaction to Taylor in that it provides a trio of scoring threats in Raser, Wolden and Nydahl, while Mason, Wright and Tuttle at guard are also capable scorers.

center on the Hilton basketball team. He also was a quarterback in football but was out all season with injuries. A third brother, Johnnie, is the most brilliant player on the university high school's basketball team and is a "sure comer."

1926 PRESENTS PROSPECTS FOR GOOD BUSINESS

Sisson Looks Forward to Even Greater Prosperity Than Was Enjoyed in 1925

BY FRANCIS H. SISSON
President Trust Company Division
American Bankers Association

As this year ends there is present the prospect of continued high levels for business generally in 1926. That outlook, of course, is based upon the very substantial progress made during the last 12 months. And, in order to gauge the future intelligently, it is necessary to glance briefly at the immediate past.

Nineteen hundred and twenty-five has been a year of great industrial and commercial activity, based, for the most part, on sound underlying conditions. The most striking of these has been in the building and automobile industries. In the former a very rapid pace has been maintained for four years, and this has undoubtedly afforded a basis for industrial operations in many lines on a scale which could not have existed otherwise. The same is true in a lesser degree of the automobile industry, in which high levels have been usually maintained, though not without interruptions. It appears that had these industries will establish new records for output this year.

The cotton and woolen textile industries have entered upon what appears to be a definite recovery from the depression of the last few years. The effect of two successive large crops of cotton has been to reduce the price of the raw material without a corresponding decline in textile prices.

A similar tendency toward price balance has taken place in wool. Moreover, manufacturers have gradually become adjusted to the new marketing methods necessitated by the conservative buying policies of distributors, and have adopted measures to meet the radically altered demands due to these changes.

RURAL BUYING POWER

The general industrial situation is further strengthened by the enhanced buying power of agricultural communities resulting from a second successive season of good crops and higher prices. Although the total income of farmers this year will probably be no greater than in 1924, the cumulative effects of two reasonably successful seasons have already become apparent.

Large industrial output has been balanced by active consumption, with the result that no excessive inventory accumulation has occurred. Wholesale and retail trade has been maintained at high levels throughout the year. The steadiness of commodity prices and the extraordinary promptness and reliability of railway service have been factors tending to discourage speculative buying of commodities.

The country's foreign trade has shown a healthy expansion during the year. The value of exports during the first ten months was 9 1/2 per cent greater than in the corresponding period last year, and the value of imports was 16 per cent greater.

The general upward trend of stock prices continued throughout the greater part of the year. In recent weeks a series of sharp setbacks has been encountered, due to higher open market money rates and advances in discount rates at four federal reserve banks. The level of interest rates has risen slowly for more than a year, with a pronounced increase in the volume of bank credit. Most of this increase has taken place in loans secured by stocks and bonds, which include loans for financing security transactions.

FUNDING OF DEBTS

The progress made in the funding of international debts has increased general confidence and facilitated the restoration of normal economic conditions abroad. Although the actual payments under the funding plans will introduce new problems for the time being, the settlements are a distinctly favorable factor in the international situation. The inauguration of the Dawes plan and the Locarno peace agreement have done much to clear the atmosphere in Europe.

The outlook for 1926 is favorable for a continuation of large business activity and generally prosperous conditions, at least during the early months. The general industrial and commercial situation is thoroughly sound. Large employment, high wages and satisfactory profits are conducive to active buying by consumers. Interest rates are moderate, with no probability of early stringency. On the other hand, they are no longer abnormally low, and the danger of price inflation is accordingly reduced.

In domestic business, the prime need at the present time is for the moderation which has characterized the activities of most concerns during the last four years and the continuation of an intelligent and sympathetic governmental attitude toward business.

In international affairs, the return to a normal economic situation will be hastened by the balancing of budgets, the stabilizing of currencies and by the funding of the remaining inter-governmental debts along workable lines, the encouragement of sound credit extension to foreign governments and industries and the facilitation of the efforts of European countries to make the payments agreed upon.

CITY HALL SHUT UNTIL MONDAY

Taxpaying Takes Spurt—Treasurer's Office Open Monday Night

Closing arrangements such as were observed during the Christmas week, and again will be in effect Friday and Saturday at the city hall due to the New Year's holiday. Mayor John Goodland, Jr., has ordered all offices to remain closed from Thursday evening until Monday morning. He believed it was unnecessary to ask the employees to come in for the few hours that would constitute the Saturday morning session.

With Thursday as the last day of the year, taxpaying was brisk among those who wanted Jan. 1 to enter with their taxes all paid. Only about $3,000 was received on Wednesday but the windows of F. E. Bachman's office had waiting lines on Thursday.

Taxpaying will resume Monday, when the treasurer's office will be open from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1:15 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Bachman also will open his office for one hour Monday evening, beginning at 7 o'clock and will continue this arrangement each Monday during January.

INMATES OF CITY HOME CHEERED AT CHRISTMAS

Inmates of the city home still cherish pleasant memories of the Christmas festivities there, due to the kindness of the matron and several Appleton persons. Mrs. Michael Peters, the matron, saw to it that a delicious dinner was set before the unfortunate on Friday. Their pleasure was further enhanced when a group of girls of the First Congregational Sunday school in charge of Mrs. C. W. Cross came there Friday evening and conducted a motion picture program. A machine was set up in the living room and an interesting film thrown on a screen.

Gifts also brought cheer to those at the home. The Misses Dinah and Minnie Geenen of the Geenen Dry Goods Co., presented each person with an article of wearing apparel. An envelope containing money, and a bag of candy and other goodies were given to each by the German Aid society out of the Goodfellow funds.

CASE BEGUN IN WRONG COUNTY, COURT DECIDES

Outagamie-co. Has no Jurisdiction Involving Automobile Sale

After testimony had been taken for about four hours Wednesday afternoon, the case of the state of Wisconsin vs. William Hoge of Stevens Point was dismissed by Judge Theodore Berg on the ground that Outagamie-co. had no jurisdiction over the matter. The Valley Acceptance Co., Appleton, was the complainant.

Hope, who formerly was president of the Calumet Auto Co., of Brillion, was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. While still connected with the Brillion firm, he sold a Chevrolet roadster to A. H. Brown under a conditional sales contract, and included a former bill which existed between them, amounting to $165, as extra equipment.

Brown made only one payment on the car, after which it was taken over by the Valley Acceptance Co. In purchasing the contract, the company paid the $165 with the rest of the bill, thinking the car had extra equipment as stated on the contract, according to the complaint.

Inasmuch as the check which the Valley Acceptance Co. paid Hoge was chased at Brillion, the judge held that Calumet-co. instead of this county, has jurisdiction over the case.

L. P. Fox of Chilton was attorney for the defendant, while S. A. Staid represented the state.

Markets

MUCH BUYING ON YEAREND MARKET

Considerable Volume of Cash Transactions to Register Income Tax Losses

New York—(AP)—Stock prices displayed a firm tone at the opening of the last stock market of the year. Secretary Hoover's warning against reckless speculation in stocks apparently did not bring out any extensive selling at the opening. Initial gains of a point or more were recorded by American Tobacco, Chrysler and Radio Corporation. Matheson Alkali opened at 107, a new high quotation for the year.

Buoyancy developed in some of the high priced industrials soon after the opening. National Biscuit moved up to a new 1925 high. Chrysler extended its gain to 23, and National Tea, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth and New York Canners sold 2 or more points higher. Cash sales for the purpose of establishing losses under the income tax law were much smaller than usual on the last day of the year, being confined largely to relatively unimportant issues. Oils, which have attracted a large speculative following because of merger reports again were active on a rising scale although the early gains were small.

Foreign exchanges opened steadily with trading of a holiday character. Demand sterling held firm at $4.84 1/2 and French advanced 3 points to 3.73 1/2 cents. Other changes were largely nominal.

With speculative sentiment hopelessly disposed at business prospects for the new year, buying became more general, although there was considerable volume of cash transactions to register income tax losses. A block of 40,000 shares of Transcontinental Oil changed hands at 4 Missouri, Kansas and Texas preferred reached a new high figure for the year at 92 1/2. Call loans again renew at 6 per cent.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 2,100,000 shares.

MORE NAMES ON STATE PAYROLLS THAN YEAR AGO

Industrial Commission Reports Indicate Fewer Accidents Than in 1924

Madison (AP)—Labor and industrial conditions in Wisconsin were favorable during 1925, the state industrial commission declared Thursday.

The number of employees on factory payrolls was 4 per cent greater than during 1924. Child labor, an index of industrial prosperity, increased. A record of new apprentices were reported.

"The volume of production by manufacturing industries has been very favorable," the commission stated.

The ten public employment offices of the state placed about 110,000 persons in employment.

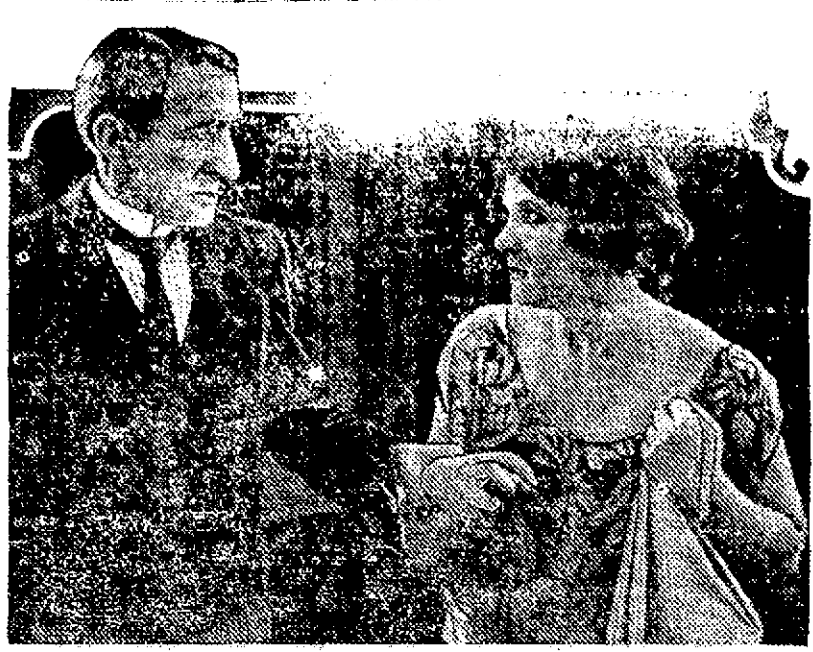

Machine accidents have been reduced slightly, the commission notes, and new low ratios have been reached for fatal and permanent impairment cases in comparison with all compensation cases reported. The total compensation cost industrial accidents in 1925 will exceed $4,500,000, 23,667 ACCIDENTS

During the first eleven months of 1925, industrial accidents reported to the commission numbered 23,667, as compared with 21,869 during the corresponding period in 1924. A corresponding increase in compensation cases was indicated, the number for the year being expected to reach 25,800, as compared with 23,855 in 1924, and 23,950 in 1923.

"The records of the industrial commission prove that during periods of prosperity the influx of children into industry is greater than during periods of industrial depression," the report states. "In times of prosperity, employers take on junior workers in order to meet their orders. During 1925 the commission issued 14,430 child labor permits as compared with 12,975 during the previous year. This is a reflection of the demand for labor and has no bearing as to the advantage or disadvantage of child labor."

"Child labor permits are required for all children under the age of 17 in order to keep children out of employment that is unsuitable for them because of accident hazards, contagious disease hazards, moral hazards and to restrict the employment of children in positions where the safety of the public might be jeopardized."

"The number of new apprentices during 1925 was 833, which is the largest number indentured during any year since the apprenticeship law was first enacted. The number of apprenticeship contracts in force at the

UNLAWFUL FOR COUNTY TO PAY WOLF BOUNTIES

Counties cannot pay a bounty on wolves and foxes, F. C. Seibold, assistant attorney general, has advised J. S. Earl, district attorney of Crawford co. The opinion holds that in view of a state law providing only for a bounty on wolves and foxes to be paid out of the state treasury, the Crawford co. board's resolution providing a bounty to be paid by the county was invalid.

This ruling is not surprising, John E. Hantschel, county clerk, declared when informed of it. He said that Outagamie co. does not pay a cent toward bounty on wolves and foxes. Application for such bounty is made at the county clerk's office and when the clerk has satisfied himself as to the justice of the claim, he sends the application to the state, which pays the bounty.

WANT CHILDREN TO TAKE PART IN POSTER CONTEST

Rural School Pupils Compete in State Contest for $2 Prizes

Announcement is being made in local rural and graded schools of the poster contest that is to be held this winter by the Wisconsin Farmers' Institutes. The local contest will be conducted under the direction of the teachers cooperating with H. R. Burr of Waunakee, chairman of the institute to be held in Greenville on Jan. 14 and 15.

The three best posters made by students in local contests will be chosen by a committee chosen by Mr. Burr and sent to state headquarters to compete with those of other institute centers for the $2 prizes to be awarded.

The rules of the contest require that posters advertising the local institute be put in store windows, or other conspicuous places at least a week before the meetings. While most of the prize-winning posters in the past have been illustrated by pictures cut out of magazines and papers, many original drawings have been turned in.

Last year 39 counties were represented by prize-winners with Dane co. in the lead. Seven youngsters from the capital county won coveted recognition. The winners of the first five state awards in 1925 were

The Friends We Made and The Friends We Kept

TO them we owe thanks and deep gratitude for their help in the year just closing. And we feel that our greatest success has been in the Friends We Made and the Friends We Kept.

Greater than sales, greater than profit, more substantial than gain are these friendships we have made.

To live up to the confidences placed in us is a constant duty—a constant light that shows the way to do more, to give more, to help more.

And this spirit of goodwill—this hope that we may always "Do Unto Others" means better existence for every one of us at this store.

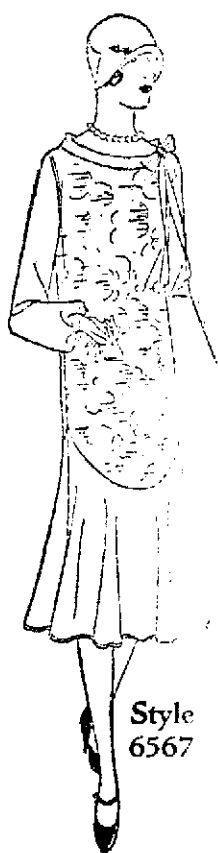

So we all say to you—A Happy New Year—as we leave the old year with many happy memories of the privilege of serving you and enjoying your full friendship.
